

Fungi Destroy Health!

By Peter Lim

Just like bacteria, viruses, parasites and allergies, fungi could destroy our life and health. They enter our body to attack the skin, lungs, brain, bones, and intestines including our reproductive system. Our 20-year research from the United States using complementary energy patch therapy has proven to be very useful and effective to eventually boost the immune system to meet the health challenges. The case studies below are based on our own local research.

Case studies

Fungus leads to mental disorders

A lady in her sixties was given mental pills for seven years. She was hospitalised for eight weeks when she sought our help. She had sleep disorders with low energy, cough, anxiety, depression, inflammation and pain all over, with no desire to eat or even to live. We found that she had high fungal levels in her cerebellum, pituitary gland and lungs. She had biofilms or micro-organisms in the pituitary gland, liver, cerebrum, blood and bladder/urinary, with medium stress and intestinal toxins.

Within a week of using our energy boosters which were tailored to deal with her crises, she was discharged from the hospital. Within a month, she was totally transformed with good appetite, walking in the parks and mountains while abroad. It was more than a year since her recovery and the family is so happy that she has been set free. We would not be surprised that many cases have been classified as mental disorder while the root causes have yet to be found.

Fungus leads to skin disorders

A man in his early fifties suffered for five years. The infection started from the ear and spread throughout his body when his immune system was down. His sleep and quality of life were affected. Medications were temporary.

We found high fungal level on his skin and inflammation which gave him great stress and discomfort. Within a month of using the energy booster patches, he took his own photos to prove he had improved by 80 per cent. For eczema, it is usually caused by parasites, bacteria or allergies and we have encouraging answers though with initial difficult challenges.

Fungus leads to migraine disorders

A lady in the health profession was having serious migraines for many months with sleep disorders, cough and pain, sleeping only three to four hours a day with urination disorder. She often found refuge in the toilet while in office, as the pain was so unbearable. Ten years ago, she had her foetus, ovary and appendix removed.

Our study found she had high fungal levels in her cerebellum and lungs. We believed her root problem of organ removals could be due to fungus. Within a month of using our energy booster patches, she observed good progress. After five months, test confirmed she was fungal free and is now leading a healthy life.

Fungus leads to miscarriage disorders

A lady started her first attempt at having children with a miscarriage, thankfully she was later blessed with three healthy children. Yet she had another miscarriage due to foetal fungal attacks. If the root cause of the first miscarriage had been dealt with, the repeat miscarriage could have been prevented.

In our research, we found unresolved pathogenic attacks to the reproductive organs as the potential root causes to continual fibroids, endometriosis, ovarian cysts, miscarriages, heavy discharges, etc. A 17-year old lady had 6kg ovarian cyst removed. Five years later, we found the autistic virus R1H2 could have been the cause of her continual challenges. Repeated operations could only make the reproductive organs weaker and prone to attacks and potential cancer. If you have such problems, come to see us.
